- d. the chief manservant of a house.
- e. helpful, encouraging, sympathetic
- f. causing offense, repulsion or horror
- g. morally wrong or bad
- h. to have a kind, friendly personality

Synopsis

Dr Jekyll is a doctor who is working on a secret experiment. He believes that all people have two distinctive personalities - one good and
, and one He has created a chemical formula that makes the brain completely separate these two personalities so that they can be controlled and analysed. He decides to test the formula on himself, and the events that follow are quite The Dr Jekyll suddenly transforms into his evil, Mr Hyde. Throughout the play, he changes continuously between Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde. He lives two different lives – one as Dr Jekyll, the kind and caring doctor who everyone knows, and the other as Mr Hyde, a malicious and violent threat to the people around him. However, nobody, not even Dr Jekyll's, friend, or his, know that he is in fact also the evil Mr Hyde. What will happen when they eventually find out? Will Dr Jekyll be trapped in the same body as the evil Mr Hyde forever?

SESSION 1: SYNOPSIS AND CHARACTERS

Activity 2: The Characters

You already know about Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde, but who are the other characters in the play? Read the character list below to find out.

• DR. HENRY JEKYLL: who becomes Mr Edward Hyde

• DR. UTTERSON: Dr. Jekyll's best friend

• DR. MARY: Dr. Henry's co-worker

POOLE: butler

• DANVERS: investor

• SATINE: A cabaret singer. Hyde's girlfriend

Now, read the following extracts from the play. Each extract reveals the personality of the characters. After reading the extract, write a few lines to describe the personality of the character *.

Here are some adjectives to help you. Check the meanings and then use them in your sentences.

direct – caring – disrespectful – lovely - selfless – concerned – protective – sinister – loyal – snobbish – proud - uneducated – threatening – defensive – provocative - sceptical – intolerant impatient

*Note to teachers – The students may also use other adjectives, and support their answers using examples from the text.

SESSION 1: SYNOPSIS AND CHARACTERS

a. Dr Henry Jekyll.

POOLE: Tell me, my dear.

MARY: Do you think Dr. Jekyll is in love with someone?

POOLE: For a moment I thought...

MARY: I beg your pardon?

POOLE: (He buttons his shirt back up and takes a drink.) Nothing. In my opinion, he is very kindly, but he is only interested in his work. We can't make people be the way we would like them to be, isn't that right?

How would you describe Dr Jekyll's personality?

b. Mr Edward Hyde.

MR. HYDE: Ah! You want to stay calm! (Drinking again.)

DANVERS: You shouldn't drink any more.

MR. HYDE: Who will stop me? Danvers Carew? The big investor wants to force me to stop drinking! (Putting the bottle close to his face.) You also forced Jekyll to abandon his experiment.

DANVERS: Enough is enough. (Danvers crosses the stage determined to leave.)

MR. HYDE: Oh... Come on Danvers! (Hyde presses Danvers' throat with his cane. Danvers' breathing becomes laboured.)

SESSION 1: SYNOPSIS AND CHARACTERS

d. Mary.

POOLE: By the way, Mary... You're looking very pretty!

MARY: Thank you, Poole. (She smooths out her clothes.) Today is the presentation of Dr. Jekyll's work and I wanted to make a good impression on him.

POOLE: I see butterflies in the environment!

MARY: Poole! (Smiling.)

POOLE: Don't worry, I will keep your secret...

How would you describe Mary's personality?

e. Danvers.

DANVERS: Doctor Jekyll, (Sceptically.) If I may ask you a question.

JEKYLL: Of course, Mr. Danvers.

DANVERS: You're saying that you can eliminate the dark side of a human being? JEKYLL: (Laughing.) Oh, no! Excuse me! I must have expressed myself wrong.

JEKYLL: (Laughing.) Oh, no! Excuse me! I must have expressed myself wrong.
(Separating the words with a line.) Separating good from evil! I mean control, lock up, master, the dark side of things! (Enclosing the word "evil" in another circle.) But at this stage, we need your help to continue.

DANVERS: Well, well, well... I like to see the enthusiasm. I must admit that it is a very ambitious project It's a pity, however, that we don't live in Alice's Wonderland. This is real life! I appreciate the intention and energy, but all I care about are my money and my time. Honestly, I don't think it can be achieved. I'm sorry to tell you that you've been wasting my time, and now if you forgive me, I have more important matters to attend to. Mr. Utterson. Dr. Jekyll. Dr. Mary. (Danvers)

g. Satine.

SATINE: That is not easy, doctor. Have you ever visited the places where I work?

JEKYLL: What... I? (Shocked.) Well...

SATINE: Are curious about it?

JEKYLL: I'm sorry, I'm a respected doctor...

SATINE: Oh, sure! (Satine tries to hug him.)

You see, I don't want to offend you...

SATINE: Well, you have. I don't know what I hate the most: the impression

I made on you or how cowardly you can be. (Getting up.) Tell me how much I owe you.

JEKYLL: Don't worry. I won't charge you anything.

SATINE: You offend me again! You did your job and I'm going to pay you back. (She leaves some money on the table.)

How would you describe Satine's personality?

SESSION 1: SYNOPSIS AND CHARACTERS

Look at this line from the play and find the mistake. Make the correction and rewrite the line.

SATINE: Nothing, Sir. I didn't mean nothing.

Look at the sentence below. The word "ain't" is a slang word which is sometimes used in negative sentences. Can you write the sentence again in formal English, using another word in place of "ain't"?

POOLE: I ain't never been taught anything.

Look at the sentence below. Write it again in its negative form.

DANVERS: We've met before, haven't we?

SESSION 2: UNDERSTANDING THE PLAY

Activity 1: Modal Verbs

Match the following modals verbs with the correct functions.

* Clues - "must" has two functions

You can use two of these modal verbs to express obligation.

MODAL VERB

- 1. should
- 2. can/may
- 3. would
- 4. must
- 5. have/has to

FUNCTION

- a. possibility
- b. obligation
- c. offer
- d. prediction
- e. certainty

SESSION 2: UNDERSTANDING THE PLAY

Now, read the following extracts from the beginning of the play and choose the correct modal verb from above to fill the gap.

JEKYLL:	I ask you a question, Poole? What did I do wrong about Mary?
Poole:	Everything.
JEKYLL:	Maybe I have paid more attention to her.
POOLE:	Eureka
JEKYLL:	I make it work! (He gets up.) Poole, get dressed!
POOLE:	Sir, I (He pulls out a rubber ducky and makes it squeak.)
JEKYLL:	Dress up right now! I get Mary to come back! The experiment is going to work!
Poole:	If I, sir, it's not a good idea
SATINE:	I go.
Mr. Hyde:	I think not. We're not done yet. (Hyde presses Satine's chest with the baton. Finally Satine lies down on the stretcher. He heals her wounds.) The doctor is invited to a party tonight.
SATINE:	A party?
Mr. Hyde:	Yes, all friends and collaborators are invited you like to come with me?
SATINE:	(Satine gets up on the stretcher.) Me? You don't know anything about me.
Mr. Hyde:	Of course I do. I value you highly. I see inside you through your eyes. (He tries to kiss her but she rejects him.) Are you afraid to fall in love with someone as respected as me? (Satine hesitates but kisses him.) The doctor is going to love this. (He draws the curtain.)

SESSION 2: UNDERSTANDING THE PLAY

Activity 2: In Mour Cpinion...

Read the following extract from the scene where Dr Jekyll tells Dr Utterson about the experiment he wants to do.

DR. JEKYLL: In each of us there are two separate natures, two distinct personalities:

one dark, one light. One good, one evil. It is a terrible punishment to mankind that these two extremes should be constantly at war. I can see now that we have the power to separate these 2 sides of man. We can separate what is good and functional from what is evil and dysfunctional and we can control these elements forever. The brain is not a part of the body; the body is part of the brain. I must now be permitted to test my formula and my theory on a human subject.

UTTERSON: What? A human soul? To be tested like a laboratory rat? I tell you now the church will never accept. What makes you think you have the right to play God?

R	What is Dr Utterson's reaction? Does he approve of the experiment?

SESSION 2: UNDERSTANDING THE PLAY

If you were Dr Utterson, would you approve of Dr Jekyll's plan? Consider the risks and ethics involved. Write a short paragraph giving your opinion.

Use as many of the following linking words and expressions as possible...

In my opinion... / I believe that... / From my point of view...

Firstly, secondly, thirdly...

On one hand... on the other hand...

In addition / furthermore

However

Therefore

In conclusion

Share your opinions with the rest of the class.

JEKYLL: This time everything will go well!

POOLE: I should have asked for the day off.

JEKYLL: Third time's a charm.

POOLE: Oh! My God.

JEKYLL: Poole, help me.

POOLE: I should have gone with Mary.

JEKYLL: It is my turn. It's my chance. I'm going to separate my dark side.

(Poole is very nervous. Smoke comes out of the machine.

There are several explosions. The light turns off for a moment. A grunt is heard.)

Poole: Sir?Si

MR. HYDE: Pooooooleeeee! (From inside the machine.)

POOLE: Is something wrong?

MR. HYDE: Arrggggggghhhhh!!

POOLE: Sir, I don't know if I should open the gate.

(Hyde breaks glass from inside the machine.)

POOLE: I think you should keep your arms inside the window.

MR. HYDE: Open the door!!!!

POOLE: No, no way. I think you're going to have to stay inside for the rest of your life. (Poole runs away. Hyde manages to open the door from the inside.)

MR. HYDE: Yes doctor! We have succeeded! Welcome Mr. Hyde!

(Hyde shouts and the lights go out.)

MR. HYDE: Good morning!

POOLE: Let her go, monster.

MR. HYDE: (He grabs him by the neck.) Are you talking to me?

MARY: Let him go Hyde. You'll kill him. (She bites him.)

MR. HYDE: Arrrrggghhhh! (Hyde releases Poole. He throws Mary to the floor.) Rat!

MARY: Let me go!

(Poole hits Hyde on the head. Hyde collapses.)

MARY: Thank you Poole. Let's escape.

POOLE: Wait, I have to tell you something. Actually Mr. Hyde is...

UTTERSON: (Off.) He is a despicable being. (Utterson enters.) He is clearly an extortionist. Jekyll is a prisoner.

MARY: He forced me to work here.

UTTERSON: He has all of Dr. Jekyll's money.

MARY: We must call the police. (Leaving.)

POOLE: Mary, hold on. You have to know something. (Poole leaving.)

SESSION 4: Express Yourself

MR. HYDE: Danvers is waiting for you on the other side.

UTTERSON: Who are you?

MR. HYDE / DR. JEKYLL: Hyde, stop! (Hyde beats Utterson to death. Then, Hyde fades.)

MARY: Utterson! We can't report Hyde... Utterson?

(Mary discovers Utterson's lifeless body. Jekyll wakes up.)

JEKYLL: This must be stopped.

MARY: Jekyll!

JEKYLL: Miss Mary! (Shocked.)

JEKYLL: I don't want to hurt anyone else.

MARY: It wasn't you. You are not guilty. You are free now. (They hug each other.) It's all over. Henry... you're hurting me. Henry!

MR. HYDE: Say hello to Mr. Hyde.

MARY: Not again. No!!! Henry.

MR. HYDE / DR. JEKYLL: I am not Henry! Release her! Doctor, you finally got what you wanted! Enough

Hyde! You are a coward! You are my worst mistake! Arghhh! Mary.

(Mary stabs him through the heart with the letter opener.)

MARY: Henry! (Mary tries to help him.)

JEKYLL: Sorry. I'm glad you're here. I'm sorry for everything. Forgive me. It wasn't me. Thank you.

MARY: No.
